

A day for freedom

Description

On 21 March our colleagues at Medscheme commemorated 34 years of Namibian independence, uniting in sharing stories of their nation’s journey to freedom.

Chris Sinvula, Assessor in the Claims Department, says there was a sense of unity as music, laughter and the rhythmic beat of traditional drums filled the air.

“Against the backdrop of a Namibian sunset, speeches rang out, honouring the sacrifices of the past and inspiring hope for the future. Medscheme Namibia became more than a workplace – it became a community united in pride and gratitude as bonds strengthened, transcending roles and titles,” Chris says.
