

Navigate your AfroCity with One Mind

Description

One Mind is getting a brand-new home page, bringing new and improved content and services together in one place to help you navigate your AfroCity (AfroCentric Digital World) with ease.

Teams from across AfroCentric – including Content and Information Experience Capability, AfroCentric Technologies, Knowledge and Learning Experience Management Capability, Change Management, Human Capital, and Group Communications – met on 18 April to collaborate on the design of the new One Mind home page.

The collaboration marked the beginning of an exciting transformation, and each participant brought their unique perspectives to the table, thereby enriching the design conversation with valuable insights.

Creative collaboration

In a celebration of creativity, participants took part in a beading workshop, threading together bracelets and keychains. This artistic icebreaker symbolised the interweaving of our collective ideas and aspirations.

The teams then channelled their creative energies to shape an initial blueprint for the home page layout using sticky notes and freehand illustrations.

Your voice matters

As we transform the homepage, we would love your input. Join us in shaping a digital employee experience that empowers our people and reimagines our connectivity and knowledge sharing within the organisation.

default watermark

Complete the survey
and you could win
R500 Takealot voucher

Category

1. Our People

default watermark